

Lower Structural Side WA-001-S

Example of Alterations

As can be seen in the drawing, the gantry side can be altered along the edges, the top right and bottom left areas. The dark lines show boundaries that should be maintained to provide fit and function of the machine with respect to the contextual assembly (parts that will be fastened directly to the gantry side).

This is an example of the alterations that can enhance the aesthetics of the machine. Designing the parts for more interesting appearances and possibly better functionality is encouraged. This creativity will also put your own signature style on the machine. Be very careful. Read and understand all of the parts and how they all fit together and fuction prior to modifying the parts to make this process enjoyable.
